

'60 The Chieftain

This is America

Calumet High School
Gary, Indiana
presents
The 1960 Chieftain

America has advanced, including

Swelling with pride while pledging allegiance to the flag and country is one of the many privileges of being a student in these United States.

Attaining an education in these United States is a privilege which every student should take advantage of and cherish.

From kindergarten days through high school years, the guidance of our teachers expands our knowledge of the past, present, and future; and the companionship of our fellow students helps to enrich our lives.

Only in these United States has the growth of education from the days of the "little red school house" to the ultra-modern schools of today added many advantages and extra activities to the school curriculum.

Students at Calumet, like students all over the United States, are enjoying these advantages and privileges of the more modern education.

Each school day is like a link which forms a chain of education and memories. The members of the staff, by presenting the 1960 Chieftain, would like to add another link to that golden chain of memories.

All of the privileges we enjoy

The right to fun

The general student life enjoyed in these United States: Fads, Homecoming, basketball season, polio drive, and memories.

18

The right to education

The general curriculum offered to students in these United States: Languages, science, social studies, mathematics, and the arts.

The right to organization

The societies organized by students in these United States: Honorable, journalistic, creative, educational, athletic, musical, and serviceable.

66

The right to competition

The general sports program available to students in these United States: Cross country, football, basketball, track, baseball, and golf.

82

The right to friendship

The friendship of others honored by students in these United States: Teachers, seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen.

140

The right to advertising

The advertisements displayed by merchants in these United States: Clothing, sports goods, food stuffs, and general services.

We like to have fun in our

Student Life

Student life in these United States is a combination of patriotism, hard work and study in the classrooms, laughter and cheers at the games, and tears and pride at graduation.

The privilege of having such a combination to form a happy and complete student life is enjoyed by students at Calumet as it is by students throughout the country.

All these occasions in student life, both the ordinary and the unique, are stored one by one in closets of memories. In the following pages are a few keys to unlock those closets.

Summer breezes end when Making new acquaintances and renewing old ones are part of the joys in coming back to school. Judy Shimko and Pat Cox are discussing the possibilities of the new school year.

As warm summer breezes slowly drift away taking with them all the fun that is typical of summer, cool fall winds blow in turning everyone's thoughts to the activities of school.

Getting the gang together again, scheduling classes, paying fees, and trying to get back into the groove of things are a large part of the first few hectic weeks of school.

After a care-free, easy-going summer, both the students and the administration find it hard to turn their thoughts to the business of school. But within a few days, things seem to fall into place and everyone is ready to tackle their school work with astounding gusto.

The first football game of the year starts the social phase of the students' life at Columer. Then dances, other exciting games, and fun-filled parties. All of these help to start off the new school year with a bang!

Ray Hajduch and Gary Shoemaker wait in line to get a receipt from Mr. Richard for one of the many fees that must be paid during the first week of school.

fall whirlwinds begin

"Something's wrong with my schedule." One can hardly enter the office during the first week of school without finding someone having their schedule changed. Rollin Sopher is having his schedule rearranged by Mr. John Tsangaris.

"Oh no, another book! It seems like we have a million books already." Mr. John McCall is assigning books to John Sims, Gladys Jones, Sue Drake, and Leonard Aranda.

Clothes conscious students change fads

The weather man says "cool". Yes real "cool" is the term for winter sweaters worn by Leo Deistler, Dawn Finney, Dennis Nimetz and Elizabeth Wright.

Cool fall days bring neat fall fashions. Wanda Evans, wearing a neat blazer for extra warmth, stops to talk to Joyce Nagy, dressed in the always fashionable sheath jumper and tailored blouse.

Smart hair-dos for smart girls, Barbara Warren, Joan Biggerstaff, Terry Hagen and Becky Gillespie chat while displaying the latest fashions in hair-dos: The chemise, page-boy, French twist and chignon.

and fashions with seasons and occasions

Enjoying an after school chat while waiting for the buses to arrive are Jerry Jordan, wearing the trench coat; Barbara Maynard, wearing the racoon collar coat; and Bud Carr, wearing this year's "sharp" lettermen's jacket.

"Man, is that sharp and real tough" are the adjectives used to describe a new outfit of clothes or a new pair of shoes.

In the fad world at C.H.S. is the very popular pleated skirt which may be found in bold plaids and multi-colored checks. To be worn with the skirt is the "shag" sweater, the matching weskit, or the campus blazer.

Coats in both girls' and boys' styles have seen a great change this year. The trench coat has become a favorite with the boys, while the girls simply "flip" for the racoon collar coat.

This year the trend in both girls' and boys' shoes follows the pointed toe and the "cha cha" boots. In addition, the girls go for the shoes with small, spool-like heels and the ever popular "gumdrop."

Being well dressed and following the styles insures self-confidence in a teenager, and the teenagers at C.H.S. are no exceptions.

Various shoe fashions are worn by style-conscious students at Calumet. Pictured above are two of the more popular styles. The girl's is the "gumdrop"; the boy's, the "very" pointed toe.

Twelve floats and queen candidates lead

The blaze of the raging bonfire not only warmed the damp, chilled bodies of the crowd, but also the hearts and school spirit of everyone who attended.

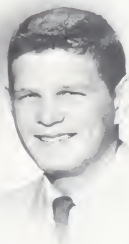

A "crap" game on school time? No; its only Carol Elboar, Estelle Keck, Carol Mehok, and Sondra Marsh making a few mock bets on the outcome of the Homecoming game during a student assembly.

An appropriate theme with materials designed by the Unique Creator, straight from Nature, enabled the Homemaking Club's float to rate first among eleven others--all suitable for a queen.

Calumet's biggest and best homecoming

1959-60 Royalty
Sherry Carl, Homecoming Queen, and Jim Spicer, Mr. Football.
We'll never forget what a "cute couple" they made as they walked out on the dance floor, after Jim's receiving the pigskin; Jim, so mighty and Sherry so tiny.

On a damp, cold evening, a large crowd gathered and excitedly awaited the kick-off for the 1959-60 Homecoming game. Soon a whistle blew loudly, the ball was kicked, and a great roar went up from the cheering crowd. Thus the game was under way; and despite a rain-drenched field, it ended in a victory for the Calumet Warriors over the Penn Kingsmen.

Highlighting the rainy evening, twelve lovely floats carrying radiant nominees paraded throughout the surrounding area and around the new but muddy field. At the half a quiet hush fell upon the once noisy crowd, for the awaited moment finally arrived! Petite Sherry Carl was crowned Homecoming Queen, 1959-60. She toured the field before her loyal subjects upon the winning float, which was made by the Homemaking Club and portrayed an "Indian Summer" theme.

Following the game, everyone crowded into the gym to dance and witness the presentation of the game's football to "Mr. Football"—Jim Spicer.

Hard work and co-operation between the student body and the administration made Homecoming 1959-60 the "biggest and best."

"Anyone for popcorn?" Popcorn is the favorite supplement for a good basketball game. John Neeley, Varsity Club member, sells popcorn to Carol Cooper as Jim Kostelnick and Ed Elch wait to buy other refreshments.

To cheer the team to victory, the cheerleaders lead the student body in various cheers to warm their spirits before the game of the evening.

Popcorn for games and Everything from foul play to bad rules were practiced in the mock game of Calumet vs. Froebel during the sectionals. Playing are: Pat Purnell, Paulette Victor, Ethel Babbitt, Sherry Carl, and Sherry Warren.

Boy Cheerleaders? Well, Calumet had them for the first time during the mock basketball game of the Loyalty Day skit. The girls played and the boys cheered.

"A friendly smile with friendly service." Laura Ludwig brings a cake for sale to Tina Hicks.

Warming up from the biting cold with hot chocolate and sandwiches are: Marie Poremski, Susan Griggs, Pat Schwartz, Arlene Hamman, and Kay Daniel.

Peanuts for polio

Freezing temperatures and blustering weather failed to chill the spirit and energy of Calumet teens during the annual Polio Drive held on January 16.

A variety of money making projects were headed by hard working committees and chairmen. These projects included bake sales, fudge sales, basketball games, slave auctions, class competition and the actual sale of peanuts on the designated day.

A food canteen was also sponsored so that the workers could be relieved at intervals throughout the day the peanuts were sold.

Courtesy and co-operation among the administration, faculty, and the student body helped Calumet take second place for the second consecutive year with a total of $2,338. This total bettered the previous record by $600.

The competition included all the Gary area schools.

"Sold to the junior girls" with combined finances they bought Grant Akin by auction from Dan Shudick, auctioneer, for two dollars.

Having a few minutes after the busses have arrived in the morning, Jerry Jordan, Jim Spicer, Manuel Lozano, Bill Steinhubel, Dan Shudick, and Tom Ford get a chance to "shoot the breeze" before starting classes.

Snow, slush, and frozen noses are common sights on an average winter day at Calumet.

Students are relieved to get out of the cold weather and into the warmth of the school as they rush off of their busses.

While waiting for school to begin, we think of all the homework we didn't have a chance to finish last night. For instance: the important history test we didn't have time to study for, and the geometry problem we didn't have time to solve because we just had to go to that basketball game.

After three hours and three boring subjects, it's finally lunch time! But as far as we're concerned lunch is over too quickly, and we hate the thought of going back to the rest of our classes.

At last it's seventh hour, and "boy" are we happy! School is over, for another day at least. While hurrying to the busses, we are thinking: Enjoy yourself while you can; tomorrow is another day which will bring much of the same.

Never a dull moment

The mad rush is on. The first stop is the locker, where Sondra Marsh pauses to get her books and check her needs for the day. Then, off to that first hour class.

During the course of the day, we must take time out from our extra-curricular activities for our academic work. Vaughn de Hensen, Janet Charbonneau, and Ed Mahoney are studying diligently in their English class.

"Did you hear." Lunch is over and now it is time to catch up on the latest gossip. Bob Berdine, Terry Hagen, and Betty Davis are exchanging their bits of information.

enters a school day .

One sure thing at Calumet; the buses never come too soon. Eager to go home are Dorothy Minder, Eloy Gonzales, and Elizabeth Sutton.

We will have these moments to remember. . .

Finally every student gets his chance to be in pictures, yearbook pictures. Having her picture taken is Paula Louie.

"What if it were alive?" Mr. Bob Joseph shows the versatility of our fine teachers, participating in the annual "donkey basketball game."

"Now it won't hurt, much." All this just to find out if you have T.B. Judy Kish is one of the many frightened students getting her test shot.

How could our homecoming assembly ever be forgotten? With school spirit high, the team's spirit grew. The G.A.A. increased this spirit by presenting the players with this cake decorated to resemble a football field.

excitement, laughter, and tears

The excitement... The junior and senior classes always have been, and will be, rivals. The 1959-60 competition reached its epitome at the Jr.-Sr. game, where the best team won, the seniors. The coach-referee friction was pretty good too. Mr. Milos Karagin, senior coach, and Mr. Richard Trkca, referee, disagree about a call.

The laughter... "Do I hear seventy-five?" The week of the polio drive Dan Shudick saw that there wasn't a dull moment during the lunch hours. Slave Sales in the twentieth century were unheard of until it became the rage at Calumet. Mr. Chris Traicoff was one of the lucky ones to have his services sold to the highest bidder.

The tears... At many a game did the fans sit with tears flowing down their faces at the thought of defeat. This game was an exception. The rain dripped endlessly down from the hair to the nose and continued its journey. But the rain-drenched crowd cheered the team to victory at the Homecoming game.

We appreciate choosing our

Subjects

Curriculums in high schools in these United States are a combination ranging from the languages to the arts and business to science.

The privilege of selecting a combination such as this from a wide and varied curriculum, which is offered at Calumet as it is in schools throughout the country, enables a student to form a well-rounded education that is best suited for his future occupation.

Student participation is a great asset in attaining an education. In the following pages students will be seen displaying the phases of classroom work.

Experience in reading, speaking, and

One very important graduation requirement is a major in English.

In first year English, students are presented with a review of grammar rules and are given short stories, biographies, and plays to read.

Advancing to the classics, such as Silas Marner and Julius Caesar, second year English students also do advanced composition work.

From the classics, third year English students go to the study of American Literature, write short essays, and do composition work in narration and description.

Students planning to go on to college are offered a fourth year of English. This course presents a brief review of grammar, aids the student in taking notes and writing long essays, and acquaints him with the history and literature of Old England

Preparing book reports acquaints the student with library facilities. John Williams and Doris Krone choose books to report on in their freshman literature class.

Taking part in class discussion is essential in any class. Mary Greene, Connie Burnett, Jim Clark and Dave Fidler are listening attentively to the discussion of daily work in the freshman English classes.

leading is provided by the English Department

Student teaching is a usual practice in college English, as students learn how to teach and have self-control in leading groups. Rufus James conducts the daily English lesson, while students take notes on his techniques.

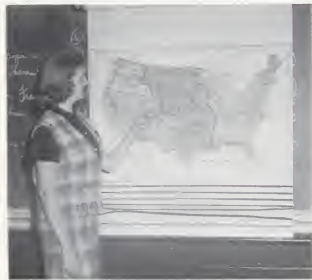

David Hochstetler asks a question about his lesson in his sophomore English class as Kathy Hornbeak prepares her daily lesson.

World History brings to us many interesting events; but in this case it brings interesting objects, such as those being explained by David Cannon and Ann Bagwell.

Maps, questions and debates to prepare, tests

In United States History one becomes well acquainted with his own country. Barbara Ollis is explaining the events leading up to and following the Louisiana Purchase.

Remembering dates and names of important men and learning amendments and capitals of states throughout the world are samples of what students learn from the courses that come under social studies.

World history is a review of what man accomplished long ago and relates to us the discoveries of man since the time very ancient and outmoded hand tools were used.

United States history goes into more detail and describes the development of the United States to what it is today.

Students in government classes are taught the workings of our governmental system in these United States. They learn the main functions and principles of a democratic government.

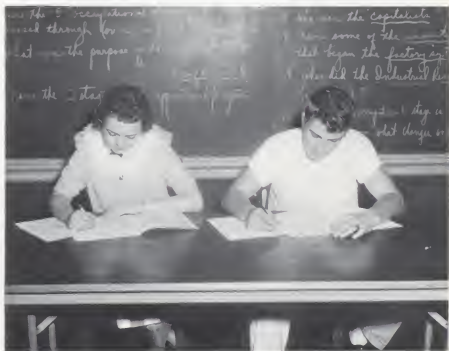

Economics is a study of the production of goods and services. It includes the study of all business problems, those of everyday life, and those concerning income distribution and consumption of goods. Students also survey various types of economic systems.

Public speaking is an important asset to everyone. Government students get a chance to practice this when, like Jim Caldwell, they give oral governmental reports.

and quizzes to take symbolize social studies

Making a living is an important part of everyone's life and with it comes income taxes. Economic students become acquainted with the tax form, as Betty Wilson and Bob Saksa are doing, by filling out practice forms.

Languages broaden students' vocabulary,

An added interest in Spanish classes is the varied and intriguing material which is placed on the bulletin board at different times. Barbara Tall and Harold Kirk look over the latest material.

Language arts help students acquire a knowledge in speaking a foreign language and teach them about the cultural background of the various countries where these languages are spoken.

This year Latin has been added to the language arts program, which includes Spanish and French.

Students taking Spanish study the culture and a history of the countries of Spanish heritage, and they acquire a knowledge of this language.

French courses promote a better understanding and appreciation of French contributions to our culture. The students learn to comprehend, speak, read, and write simple French.

Studying Latin acquaints students with the old Roman civilization and gives them a knowledge of this language. One of the chief reasons for studying Latin is to obtain a better understanding of English grammar.

Macie Klutts and Terry Anderson find it enjoyable and interesting to become acquainted with the French terms on the map, for they are similar to American words.

Mike Riegle looks on with Joanne Klimek as they find amusing articles in their books while Geraldine Foster follows in her own book.

music and art broaden their interests

Taking good care of your own instrument is a mark of a good musician. Linda Vaupel and David Van Vleck, band students, polish their instruments.

Art is a practical application of skill and is a two-credit subject made up of four courses.

Art I is composed of the elements and principles of art including the physiology of color. Plaster carving, sculpture work, and linoleum block printing are included in art II. Advanced crafts, or art III, deals with the interior decoration of homes. Special problems in drawing, painting, and advanced crafts are dealt with in art IV.

Appreciation and understanding of music are two purposes of the music department, which is under the direction of Mr. Thomas Clark, choral director; and Mr. Victor Barbieri, band director.

Art is said to be a form of human activity appealing to the imagination. Harry Hall has used his own imagination and is putting the final touch on his art project.

Steve Groninga explains how a graph is formed from algebraic equations as Jewell Gambill listens attentively.

Math is to some people a "myth"; to others it is a very lively, interesting subject.

In the first year of high school, math is a required subject. A choice of either algebra or general math is offered. Much of the work in general math deals with solving practical story problems. Students in algebra learn to solve literal number, symbol, and equation problems.

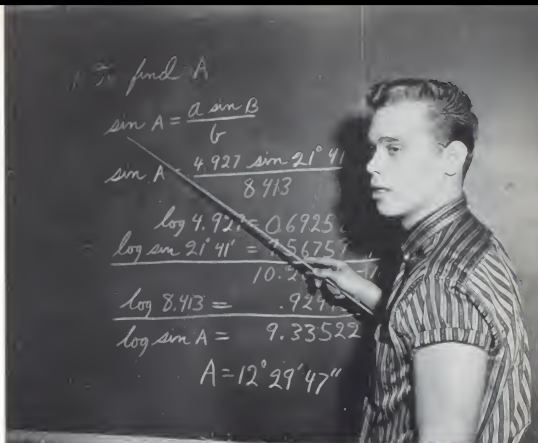

For those students wanting to major in math, the following courses are offered: plane geometry, which deals with the reasoning out of two-dimensional figure problems; advanced algebra, which covers a brief review of algebra I and such things as square roots and quadratic equations; solid geometry, which deals with the reasoning out of three-dimensional figure problems; and trigonometry, which is very helpful to those going into the fields of astronomy, surveying, and engineering.

At the first glance one might think this is a Greek or Chinese problem, but it's really a solid geometry problem. Although it seems Greek to a person who is unfamiliar with the course, Dale Appleton explains it to the class with all surety of the solution.

hours they will find perfection

In advanced math demonstrations prove to be most useful, Ed Hartsell, trig student, uses a sphere in explaining his plan to solve the problem.

Everything from onion peels to light rays

"Tedious work isn't it," Richard Frye says to Bernadette Zenone as they work together on a chemistry experiment dealing with weights.

Studying one of the many specimens provided in the biology classes are Ronnie Hubers and Lynne O'Shea.

"Gosh! Who has rotten eggs in their lunch?" That's not rotten eggs you smell; it's just the chemistry class performing one of their many experiments. Students in the chemistry classes obtain the basic concepts of organic and inorganic chemistry.

Many of us take for granted the things around us, but the students in physics class go one step further and investigate those things by studying matter and energy---the two basic things in life. To prove many of the laws of physics, several different experiments are performed.

Biology, which is a required subject, is the study of living things. The course is made up of two main parts: the study of plants, and the study of animals. General science, which is an alternative course for biology, is a general study of science.

help explain the wonders of science

Janet Simko and Dave Christy, like other physics students, enjoy experimenting. Finding the mechanical advantage of different pulley combinations is more fun than it is a task.

Busy fingers and alert minds keep

Having learned the fundamentals, Avon Shepard and Archie Caldwell are now practicing to build up their typing speed.

Sharon Braasch, Sherry Warrens, and Martha Hodge are enjoying a "coke break" and discussing their jobs with Mr. John McCall, who obtained jobs for them during the Christmas vacation as part of the salesmanship course.

A wide and varied business program is offered to the students planning to enter the business world.

For those students who wish to obtain the assets of a good secretary, two years of typing and shorthand are offered during which fundamentals are learned and speed is built up. In addition, a secretarial training course is offered in which students work under actual office conditions.

Other courses in the business program include: business law, which helps students to understand the laws with which he lives; bookkeeping, which teaches how to maintain neat and accurate financial records; salesmanship, which presents the assets for being good salesmen; business arithmetic, which enables students to better understand the problems of business that face us everyday; and general business, which emphasizes on money and credit problems and the responsibilities of the salesman.

business students on the ball

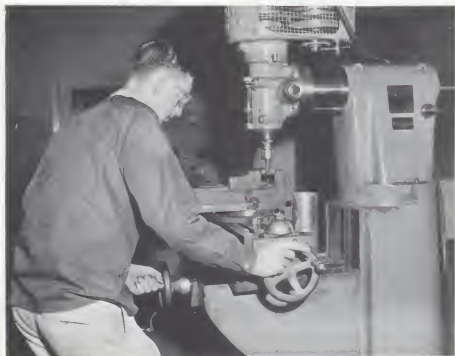

Generally, in shorthand, a desk is used for support when a student is taking dictation, but they realize a desk may not always be handy. To increase their speed in different positions, shorthand students alternately dictate to each other using their knee for support, as Linda Allenburg does while Shirley Shebat reads a short letter to her.

An important part in the learning of fundamentals in general business is learning to file correctly and accurately. Georgine Kallas and Jessie Cook practice filing in their general business class.

In shop and home ec classes, it is possible

Getting acquainted with the machinery in metal shop is one of the first steps in learning the art of making metal articles. George Frizzell is operating the milling machine to add finishing touches to his tool.

"Do it yourself" methods are becoming more and more popular day by day. Cliff Hartzell and Ken Hamilton are learning the basic techniques of wood-working as they work on their projects.

Mechanical drawing opens the door to many exciting and profitable careers. Reinhold Krone works diligently on his daily assignments to perfect his skill.

to find anything from soup to nuts

Clanking hammers and buzzing power saws echo through the halls as the boys in industrial arts classes are working. A little further down the hall, savory aromas stir one's appetite and snipping scissors can be heard.

Boys learn the fundamentals of hand-wood-working, information about the use of materials, and the basic operation of many machines. They then put their knowledge to use by constructing various wood and metal articles. Mechanical drawing students are taught to draw scale models of construction problems.

While the boys are learning a trade, the girls are learning the fundamentals of cooking, sewing, nursing, decorating, and other housing hints. They are taught the nutritional value of the basic seven, the planning and preparing and serving of meals, and the planning and decorating of a home. They are also given a knowledge of clothing construction and the human anatomy. The girls prepare meals, plan homes, and make clothes.

All the girls in sewing class look forward to seeing their finished products. So it is with Janice Teitge as she completes the final step of putting her garment together, having had her pattern cut, fitted, and pinned.

"I wonder how it's going to taste?" Carolyn Casmus, Macie Klutts, and Kaye Marsh are thinking as they anxiously wait to taste their "special dish."

Through health and safety and

"Are you sure that's a cow's heart?" is the inquisitive remark made by many students when they study the real heart of a cow in the health and safety classes. In addition to studying actual organs, the students also study many life-like models. Students in health and safety classes study anatomy, physiology, and preventive medicine from a layman's point of view. Also included in the course is the study of safe living in all walks of life.

The physical education program is set up to train and develop the physical being and to promote co-ordination of the mental and physical functions of the body. Gym classes are the awaited classes of the school day, for they provide an hour of fun and relaxation thus relieving students from the drudgery of studying.

"Lub-dub, lub-dub" is what Harry Warrens hears as he listens to Jim Hodge's heart beat through the stethoscope.

Perry Lively and Laura Ludwig are learning more about the parts of the eye as they study a life-like model of it.

P.E. teens develop in mind and stature

Tom Rumba and Wiley Hogue are playing volleyball, which is one of the many sports enjoyed by the boys in freshman P. E.

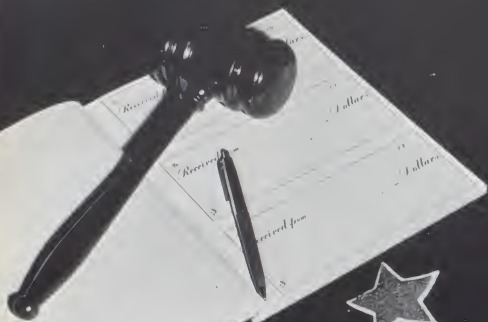

Headstands and tumbling is a favorite section of P. E. Doing a headstand is Judy Creek.

CP

We like to organize our

Activities

Activities in United States high schools are organized, ranging from religious to athletic, to add to the enjoyment and social enrichment of every student.

The privilege of organizing is exercised to the fullest extent at Calumet. Thirty activities have been organized, making it possible to reach the interests of every student.

These activities are organized of the students, by the students, and for the students. In the following pages it is to be seen how these activities are conducted to fill a student's social needs.

Government of the students

At the informal induction of Student Council officers, Dave Vincent, past president, hands the "gavel of authority" to Dennis Nimetz, this year's president.

One of the most important functions in the school curriculum is the Student Council. It is the government of the student body, organized to create and maintain school spirit and citizenship, to interest students in school activities, and to give them the feeling of belonging.

The purpose of the Student Council is to encourage students to accept and discharge their responsibilities to themselves and their school and to give them some idea of how representative government is carried on.

Some of the many activities that the Council is responsible for are the cleaning up of the school grounds; student services, which is the selling of game tickets, etc.; and the new developments that have taken place in the cafeteria, such as the new menu board.

Through the Student Council a student may express his opinions of school activities, both curricular and extra-curricular.

As Gene Jongsma, Treasurer; Bill Steinhube, Vice-President; and Dennis Nimetz, President discuss plans for future activities of the Student Council, Jackie Napp, Secretary, takes it all down in her notes.

by the students and for the students

Placing the area's top ten records on the jukebox, which was bought by the Student Council, is the job of Ed Hartsell and Bob Berdine.

Discussing plans for the installation of Student Council officers are Sherra Wilt, Carol Boger, Dawn Finney, and Sandy Christoff.

"How many tickets do you want?" asks Par Christoff, a member of the Student Service Committee, of an enthusiastic basketball fan.

Every month the Warrior Staff swells

The big moment arrives! The paper is ready to come off the press. And Janet Stillabower is prepared to get the first copy.

"Get that story." "Is your column ready?" The Warrior staff is always busy, whether covering a news story or playing a practical joke on someone.

Working on the newspaper isn't the easiest job; for there are stories to write, interviews to get, and deadlines to meet. After everything is completed, however, the staff takes time out for relaxation and fun.

If you have any doubts as to what is happening in and around school, look at the pages of the Warrior. The paper contains news of the township and alumni, humor, and everything and anything regarding students and organizations at Calumet.

For the girl, the paper suggests what to wear for all occasions in a column featuring the latest fashions for teens. For the boy, it contains two full pages of sports commentary.

The members of the staff work hard on the paper with the hope of becoming the area's finest high school newspaper.

Joan Mika, co-editor; and Letitia Ligoeki, fashion editor; show the less glamorous side of publishing the paper. Over 1200 copies of the Warrior have to be bundled.

with pride and satisfaction

"Publications beavers" busy at their work to complete their various jobs for that important deadline are Brenda Scott, staff reporter; Jackie White, feature editor; Elizabeth Wright, business manager; and Bill Freeman, sports editor.

Looking over her assignment sheet to see what stories are due is staff reporter Judy Coffman.

"Is everything ready to go to the printers?" Bob Paterson, editor of the Warrior, is giving his final approval to the copy before it goes to press.

Based on scholarship, leadership

Planning the activities of the Junior Honor Society is the job of Eileen Hollenbough, reporter; Mary Feeney, treasurer; Joanne Kelley, president; Janette Ralph, secretary; and Carole Prasnikar, vice-president.

Macle Klutts and Donna Sowles sell candy at the lunch hours to raise money for the Junior Honor Society. This is the only continuous money-making project held throughout the year.

Citizenship, scholarship, leadership, service, and character are the qualities looked for in the students who are members of the Honor Societies.

Both the Junior Honor Society and the Senior Honor Society are open to students who have maintained a "B" or better average in all of their subjects and who have been passed by all of their teachers in having the necessary qualifications for membership.

The Junior Honor Society is one of the more active organizations of the school. The club sponsored candy sales each day throughout the year in the girl's gym. Part of the proceeds was used to cover the expenses of a trip to Purdue University that the members took early in the spring.

Senior Honor Society members sold school pennants in order to raise funds to provide for a scholarship. This scholarship was presented to a deserving senior who had been a member of both the Honor Societies.

Citizenship, character, and service

These students conduct the meetings and plan the activities of the Senior Honor Society. Ed Hartsell, treasurer; Delores Padol, vice-president; Reinhold Krong, president; Karen Hamersley, secretary; and Judy Coffman, reporter.

Joyce Nagy looks over the school pennants and tries to decide whether or not she wants to purchase one from Susan Griggs and Jackie Nagy, members of the Senior Honor Society.

Captains are appointed for each hour of the school day to see that all monitors are doing their jobs and in their position. The Captains are: Steve Divich, Marsha Wroblewski, Imogene Wright, Bob Berdine, Rufus James, and Sharon Beal.

Sixth hour it is Ed Hartsell's job to check the legality of all students in the hall as he is doing by checking Sherra Wilt's pass.

Writing: Everything from passes to poetry

No, Calumet hasn't gone Beatnik, but it has organized a creative writing club called the Pen Club. In preparation of a meeting are Gordon Ligocki, Jim Kostelnick, Dave Cross, president; and Jeanine Ryan.

The weight of organizing this new club was put on the shoulders of its officers and more active members: Irene Golden, Roseann Schuster, Ronnie Howard, Shirley Slater, Barbara Ollis, Donna Tratebas, Janet Cross, and Jeanine Ryan.

Many tourists who are attracted to Spain come back with several different souvenirs. Roseann Schuster is showing one of the more typical souvenirs, a straw burro, to the members of Pan Am.

Viewing the artistic talents of the Pan Am members are Lonnie Bewick, vice-president; Mona Valencia, president; and Mary Feeney, secretary. Not pictured is Barbara Minton, treasurer.

Pan Am and Cerle Francais provide fun

"Pass the tacos please." This request is made several times at the many Spanish parties that were held by the members of Pan Am throughout the year. The menu also included tamales and enchiladas.

Pan Am members became better acquainted with Spanish culture, which is the objective of the club, when they visited the League of United Latin American Countries in Chicago. As their last activity of the year, the group took another trip to Chicago, at which time they took in a movie and dined afterwards.

"Bonjour Mes Amis." No, you're not in France; but you have just passed some French Club members joining each other on their way to a club meeting.

The French Club, which was organized for those students interested in furthering their knowledge of the French language and culture, viewed very colorful slides of France. This group also completed the year with a trip to Chicago.

Setting up plans for the various activities of the French Club are Rufus James, president; Pat Purnell, vice-president; Ruth Stassin, secretary; and Sharon Mason, treasurer.

Clubs provide fun plus education

"Roll 'em!" Although this expression is generally applied to a big movie company, it is also applied to the Projectionists.

Members of the club learn the fundamental parts of the movie projector and how to use them. The basic purpose of the club is to acquaint students with the movie projector so they can show films of interest to their fellow classmates for the teachers.

The pungent odor of rotten eggs and the irritating fumes of hydrochloric acid cannot be forgotten by members of the Chemistry Club.

Objectives of the club are to interest the members in Chemistry and to stress the importance of it in our lives. To achieve these objectives, movies were shown, and guest speakers discussed topics of interest. Among many of the subjects discussed were "Better Tomorrow" and "Careers in Chemistry."

Demonstrating an experiment in weight to Chemistry Club members are Skip Becke, vice-president; Bernadette Zenone, treasurer; Ed Hartsell, president; and Letitia Ligocki, secretary.

Future Teachers practice to make perfect

"A teacher's work is never done," Sherry Warrens, secretary; Gene Jongsma, president; Becky Gillespie, vice-president; and Barbara Warren, treasurer are planning the future activities of the F.T.A.

Encouraging students to become teachers by acquainting them with the aspects of teaching as a career is the objective of the Future Teachers of America.

Helping teachers with classes and working with the special retarded classes at the Jr. High School were a few of the activities conducted by the F.T.A. These projects not only help the teachers but also give the members valuable experience to further their interest in a teaching career.

Physical vitality, mental vigor, moral discrimination, and a wholesome personality are required of a person who wants to become a teacher. The Future Teachers hope to build up and bring out these traits in its members.

Girls spread beams of Sunshine

During the induction the Sunshine officers wore white robes to signify purity. Pictured are Joan Mika, corresponding secretary; Carol Mathas, vice-president; Diane Martin, president; Karen Chmielewski, secretary; and Wanda Evans, treasurer.

Carol Mathas and Tom Mayor are the reigning royalty for the 1960 polio campaign.

These are just two of the girls being installed in Sunshine Society, Betty Minder, by Carol Mathas, and Barbara Lockhart, by Joan Mika.

Spreading "sunshine" into the lives of needy, sick, or unhappy people is the objective of the girls in the Sunshine Society.

To help unfortunate people feel happier, at Christmas-time, and throughout the year, the S. S. S. made cheer baskets of candy and toys for the children in hospitals. They also made baskets containing food, toys, and clothing for the poverty-stricken families in this area.

By sponsoring a king and queen campaign, each penny counting as a vote, and a sock hop, the S. S. S. helped Calumet take second place in the annual polio drive.

In the spring the club offers a $400 scholarship to any senior girl who is planning to go into nursing.

Bible quizzes are one of Y.F.C.'s favorite activities. Participating are: Mary Lasser, Sharon Braasch, Kay Stigall, and Sharon Williams.

Reaching non-christian teens and the accepting of the Christian way of life is the primary objective of the Youth For Christ Club at Calumet.

One of the main features at the club meetings were guest speakers from various churches in the nearby area. A new attraction of the club is the Youth For Christ Club Chorale. This choir sings at all Y.F.C. rallies.

Winter Wonderland was the sweetheart banquet given by Y.F.C. at Ross Reformed Church. This is one of the many activities in which the members of the club participate. Rallies are held twice a month at various locations in the area. Members also actively attend the Y.F.C. sing-spirations every Sunday night after church services.

Eager members of the Youth for Christ Quiz Team wait impatiently for their turn to answer questions. Members are: Mary Lasser, Sharon Braasch, Willa Thomas, Linda Fultz, and Rufus James.

Calumet Players taste spice of life.

And this is only rehearsal!! Jim Conley and Susan Griggs practice a scene for that big night of the play "Dear Delinquent."

"Curtain going up." As the curtain slowly rose, a quiet hush fell over the audience; and another Calumet Players production was under way.

Each year two plays are presented by the Players. This year the group chose "Dear Delinquent" and the "The Little Foxes" as their two major productions.

The plays are directed by Mr. Roy Chapman, club sponsor, who in turn selects an assistant director from members of the club for each production.

Anyone in the club may try out for a part in the play; the remaining members are put on one of the many crews necessary to the production.

In addition to producing two plays this year, the Calumet Players were host to 13 schools for the first Drama Festival held in the latter part of April.

"Watch that thumb, boy!" Bill Shuey, who plays the part of Cal, Barbara Warren, assistant director, and Reinhold Krone, as Ben, in the play "The Little Foxes" construct the scenery.

The officers play an important part in every play; the preparation. Tacking a poster are: Judy Coffman, secretary-treasurer; Gene Jongsma, president; and Betty Davis, vice-president.

Varsity Club rewards for endurance

"Thank you, Carol," replies Fred Beloshapka as he hands Carol Cooper a bag of popcorn while others wait their turn, impatient to get back to the game.

Business affairs and activities of the Varsity Club are directed and planned by John Neeley, president; Bud Carr, vice-president; Dennis Nimetz, secretary; and Bill Alexander, treasurer.

Jacket winners for 1959-60 include J. Jordan, E. Hartsell, G. Jongsma, C. Brown, E. Kurator, J. Neeley, J. O'Connor, D. Shudick, B. Carr, D. Nimetz, J. Spicer, and B. Peters.

Candidates for membership to the Varsity Club are selected by the present members on the basis of their character, regardless of athletic ability. To become candidates, the boys must have a major letter in any one of the several school sports.

The goal of Varsity Club members is to try to earn three major letters in one or more sports, thus making them eligible to receive a letterman's jacket.

The sale of programs and refreshments at games was handled by club members and have proved to be their most prosperous fund-raising projects.

A formal initiation was held for all of the members, new and old. Mr. Thomas Clark was invited to show the slides from his recent European trip.

"Christmas Capers" set the theme for the annual G.A.A. Ball. A colorfully lighted Christmas tree and a ceiling of evergreen bows gave Bill Shuey, Emma Kennedy, Joan Spiller, and Gordon Shipman, and 98 other couples, a perfect atmosphere for dancing.

Designed for the entertainment of the girls at the initiation, a fashion show was presented displaying the mode of formal and informal dress. Carol Elboar models the proper attire for church.

Student services are rendered

Efficiency is the keynote to praise and recognition from the faculty and counselors. The goal of the bookstore and office assistants is to get the job well done and on time, and to aid the students and faculty.

Answering the phone, writing announcements for the bulletin and postcards for those absent, recording absences, and typing tests are a few ways in which the office assistants lighten the jobs of the office personnel.

Office workers also realize that this type of work is excellent training for a secretarial career which they may want to enter.

"May I help you please?" is the question asked by students working in the bookstore before school and during the lunch hours.

These students have taken the full responsibility of "running" the bookstore, and they sell anything from school supplies and ice cream to used records from the juke box.

"May I have a typing tablet?" is what Judy Meseberg hears as she helps a student. Assisting Judy are Carol Casmus and Arlene Hammon and Geraldine Sailor and Judy Creek, pictured below.

One of the most important departments in the school curriculum is the library because all departments find a common basis in using the library facilities to further their studies.

Library assistants, who are chosen by the school librarian from a list of volunteers definitely interested in library work, are well trained to help in all phases of library procedure so that individual help may be given to any one desiring it.

The library has seen many changes take place in the last few years, such as more space in which to study and several new books covering various fields of education as well as entertaining books for personal interest.

To furnish students with reading material that will be of the most interest to them as teenagers was the purpose of organizing the Teenage Book Club.

Two students are chosen from each tenth grade English class to take book orders and then distribute them when they come in.

"What do you think of this book?" Sharon Adams asks Charlene Phillips.

Parking regulations controlled by Drivers

"You have to have one of these to park in the parking lot!" Sondra Marsh is telling Gerald Sasser that a parking permit is needed to park in the lot.

Larry Barnes tells Ron Webster to park his car in the most suitable place so others can get out of the lot.

Discussing parking rules with the other members of the club are: Steve Divich, secretary; Tyrone Spinks, president; and Paul Umlauf, treasurer.

"The life you save may be your own" is the primary motto, although there are others, of the Driver's Club.

The fundamental objective of the club is to help students obtain a better understanding of the rules and regulations for safe driving.

The members of the club keep a close check of their cars to make sure they meet all safety standards, especially during the winter months.

To become a member of the club, students must drive to school occasionally; and to be able to park in the parking lot, a parking permit, which is issued only to members of the club, must be obtained.

Discussions at club meetings include the various techniques of safe driving, the rules and regulations of safe driving, and other related subjects.

To promote funds for the club's treasury the members sponsored a sock hop after the last regular-season basketball game.

Secretaries train for future jobs

Running off tests are one of the many tasks of the Secretarial Club, fulfilling their jobs are Bonnie Spiller and Mary Roll.

Transcribing dictation from shorthand to English as rapidly as possible, but typed accurately and neatly, as well as other important assets, make a good secretary.

Being added to the extra-curricular activities just this year, the Secretarial Club was organized to build up these assets in those students who take typing and shorthand and to give them training in secretarial work.

Each girl is assigned to a teacher to act as their secretary, doing such work as typing tests, checking papers, and handling business correspondence as well as some personal work.

Lectures are given by outside speakers in the field of secretarial work. These lectures enable the members to understand the duties and obligations that a secretary has to her employer.

The girls learn to work as good secretaries before they are out of school through practical experience with the teachers, which enables them to secure better jobs when they graduate.

Discussing plans for a future meeting are the officers: Dawn Finney, treasurer; Diane Martin, secretary; Sondra Marsh, vice-president; and not pictured Carol Mathas, president.

Future Homemakers work to help others

You can't run a club without officers heading it, and in F.H.A. they are: Eileen Hollenbough, treasurer; Linda Metz, secretary; Susan Griggs, president; Roseann Schuster, parliamentarian; Karen Hamersley, Honor Chapter Representative; and not pictured is Carol Mathas, editor.

"What a sticky mess!" is the remark made by Homemaking Club members while preparing taffy apples and other sweets for one of their frequent sales. In addition to these sales, which are held during the lunch hours, various other money-making projects are sponsored by the club.

Preparing today's young girls to be efficient homemakers and learning to help others are a few of the goals of this organization. Sending baskets of clothes, food, and toys at Christmas time to needy families was one of the many similar activities carried on by the members this year.

As a nationally affiliated organization, the Future Homemakers of America have a variety of goals to fulfill. Perhaps the primary goal is to further interest in the field of home economics. To achieve this, and the other goals, projects are always in the making. But it's not all hard work! Projects were completed at slumber parties, or other similar activities, to arouse the interest of the members.

Mona Valencia, Pat Coultis, Emma Kennedy, Susan Griggs, and Karen Hamersley are preparing flannel boards for the retarded children at the jr. high; this is just one of the many F.H.A. projects.

Music appreciation is one vital aspect taught to all choral groups. The Choral Department is made up of three major groups: The Warrior Choral Club, which is a recent addition to the department, is composed of a mixed freshman chorus. The Melonaires, an all girls' chorus, prepares them for the A Cappella. The A Cappella, a selected vocal group, is the largest of the three vocal groups.

All three groups performed at the Winter Concert and the Spring Festival and in several music contests.

The Choral and Band Departments assembled for the Winter Concert.

at football games and pep assemblies

These girls led the Marching Band onto the field; Laura Ludwig, Gerry Lutz, Nancy Hinkle, Caroleen Alvey, Betty Wilson, Karen King, Pat Timm, Lynda Beach, and Pat Coulitsis.

Calumet's band students, under Mr. Victor Barbieri's supervision, adopted a students' savings plan this year. The plan's purpose is to defray the expenses of the annual band trip, which they took in the late spring.

The Dance Band plays popular music, which gives the students an opportunity to learn show songs for theatrical work and "swing" songs for dancing. The band plays at student assemblies, civic dances, and for the various cake walks.

The Marching Band was active in many marching events, at football games, and in several parades. This year the band was high-lighted at the Winter Concert and the Spring Festival. Some of the students took an active part in the Indiana State Solo and Ensemble Contest held in the early spring.

Unique routine and good co-ordination are two of the basic fundamentals of this year's majorettes.

The nine majorettes in their colorful uniforms participated at football games, in parades, and at the Spring Festival.

A combination of rhythm, grace, and strut was used by the majorettes as they engaged in these activities.

They directed the business affairs of the majorettes; Pat Coulitsis, chaplin; Betty Wilson, president; Nancy Hinkle, vice-president; and Caroleen Alvey, secretary-treasurer.

One big jig-saw puzzle: fit together with

"How would this picture look on page 29?" Sorting out pictures and laying out the yearbook is one of the many jobs of the yearbook editors, Shirley Kruse and Paula Vaneck.

"I knew that it was around here somewhere!" Karen Hamersley, filing and index clerk, has the job of making sure that things are easy to find when they are needed.

"Does this go on this page?" Beverly Ruzzini, picture and layout editor has the job of helping the editors lay out the pages of the yearbook.

Busy? Carol Mathas, business manager who has charge of all the advertisements, and Linda Fultz, one of the copywriters on the staff who writes copy of club activities, are always busy doing something that has to do with the yearbook.

Planning, assignments, work and deadlines

What would a yearbook be without pictures? Dawn Finney and Dianne Nimetz are doing an important part of preparing the yearbook.

We enjoy competing in our

Sports

Competitive recreation in high schools in these United States is in some way a part of every student's life, whether it be boosting or playing. They do not exercise the privilege of participating in the sport of their choice merely as a means of exercise or recreation, but to gain self-accomplishment and satisfaction.

At Calumet the athletic program is arranged to meet the interests of every sport enthusiast, with sports ranging from football to golf.

In the following pages it will be seen how sports are used to gain and maintain school spirit and sportsmanship.

Behind the scenes of well-played performances:

Weeks before school is actually in session football players come to school every day to get in shape for the rough season ahead. Getting ready for a practice is Dan Shudick. This is a typical scene of any athlete preparing for a game or practice.

Coach Chris Traicoff gives all of his boys special attention before the games to make sure that they are in top condition for the feat. In this case it is necessary for him to bandage Jerry Jordan's ankle to give it extra strength.

To tone muscles and get the runner in condition, all Cross Country runners get that most relaxing rub down before the meet, Dave Cross works on Jim O'Connor as Mr. Traicoff works on Jerry Dorsey.

Hours of sweat, pain, and preparation

The managers do all the work behind the scenes. Working by keeping records, passing out uniforms, and keeping equipment in shape are: Cleophas Brown, Spencer Neil, Ed Hartsell, Larry Berdine, David Hochstetler, and Gene Jongsma.

"One, two, one, two," echoes through the west end of the building everyday seventh hour and after school while the boys are preparing for the season of spring sports.

"And the game is only half over!" Players Bud Carr, Bob Jackson, and Dennis Nimetz lead the team to the dressing room for a half-time pep talk and recuperation.

On your mark, get set. The Warriors are all ready to go as the starting whistle is blown.

Coach Chris Traicoff and his cross-country team have ended the 1959 season with a record of eight victories, two defeats, a first place sectional title, and a fifth place in the state. Ever since Calumet placed in the sectionals in 1957, the harriers have had the incentive to break all previous school records, which they have done several times.

During the summer the harriers started preparing for their '59 season by exercising to loosen stiff muscles, running the two-mile course every Sunday afternoon, and running on their own each day.

As a result of this pre-season preparation, at the close of the '59 season the Warriors found themselves eligible for the sectionals. And this time the Calumet Harriers finished first in the Gary Sectionals after defeating Gary Roosevelt by two points. But they didn't stop there. They went down state and placed fifth in the state finals, competing with 29 schools.

The Warriors are to be highly praised for winning the Gary Sectionals; thus obtaining the first sectional triumph in the school's history.

The football season ends with a bang

Finishing their fourth season with a 3-6 record, Coach Bob Joseph, Warrior grid mentor, felt that the 1959 eleven played the most improved brand of football since the game was organized as a major sport at Calumet.

Much of their success was due to the rugged practice schedule which started in the middle of August. While the rest of the student body were enjoying their summer vacation, the Warrior gridders were knocking heads and acquiring the necessary techniques that make a well-balanced, durable squad.

After losing nine seniors via the graduation route, the Warriors went on to participate in the Football-O-Rama and posted one of their best season's record, which included an upset victory over the highly touted Penn Kingsmen to make the Homecoming a complete success.

This year's squad should feel their accomplishments to be a challenge to the squads in the years to come to equal—or better.

To the varsity goes the glory and the cheers of the crowd, the hero worship and the sighs of the fairer sex.

For the unsung heroes of the B-Team there is only blood, sweat, mud, and tears. These are the future Warriors who will carry forth the school's colors in the coming battles of the grid-iron. The B-Team is where the bruises, scars, and frustrations become incidental in acquiring the fundamentals which are necessary to become members of the varsity.

This year's B-Team finished the season with a 2-1-1 record. In addition to playing their regular schedule, B-Teamers were called on to bolster weak spots in the varsity line and back-field.

Next year these boys will be the varsity, and they can look forward to the cheers of the crowd, the hero worship, and the sighs of the fairer sex.

Losing only to Gary Roosevelt, Merrillville, Rennselaer, and Thorton North, in regular season play, "B" Team cagers went on to drop Crown Point, Dyer, Hebron, Wirt, Hobart, Griffith, Bishop Noll, Edison, Emerson, Portage, Horace Mann and Chesterton by the way side.

The most disappointing feature of the "B" Team season was the failure of the junior Warriors to capture their own tourney, especially since they defeated all participating teams in regular season play.

Froebel	59	86

Following an opening game loss to Gary Roosevelt, Calumet's Warriors went on to compile a 16-5 record, closing the season by knocking off Thorton North for the second time this year.

Coach Chris Traicoff, in a year of rebuilding, produced a fast-breaking, well-balanced attack that helped to overcome a lack of height.

In the Merrillville Holiday Tourney, the Warriors swept by Lowell only to be dumped by Griffith in the second appearance. The Warriors managed to avert complete disaster, however, by trouncing Dyer in the Consolation game.

Calumet's Cagers were dropped by the way side in the first game of the Gary Sectionals when they were excelled in shooting, passing, and rebounding by the Blue Devils of Froebel.

Next year's campaign will be an even greater challenge as seniors Bud Carr, Sam Lusk, Bill Peters, Dennis Nimetz, Bill Alexander, Wardell Brown, and Jerry Jordan depart via the graduation route.

"Jump, Jordan, jump!" Jerry Jordan, Warrior center, takes tip against the opposing team.

pep, steam

One big fight!. Bud Carr, guard, jumps for that all-important basket.

The fresh and promising Freshman Basketball Team of 1959-60. KNEELING: C. Smith, P. Bough, T. Hiddle, T. Kirklin, B. Miller, W. Kobek, E. Sopko, S. Groninga and R. Tratebas. STANDING: Pete Kokinda, coach, R. Sanders, L. Paul, E. Mahoney, R. Schweder, E. Padron, J. Strickland, G. Frizzell, and B. Coates.

Although finishing the season with an unimpressive 12-7 record, the frosh cagers showed a potential on several occasions that future adversaries had best beware of.

Knocking off such "big name" schools as Bishop Noll, Thorton North, E.C. Roosevelt, and Hammond High, the young Warriors showed poise and ability, which, in the years to come, may be of championship caliber.

Coach Pete Kokinda's boys, led by Ed Mahoney and Tom Kirklin, served notice to Coach Chris Traicoff as to what he can look forward to in the near future.

Bill Peters and Jerry Sibincic lift weights to get their muscles and bodies in shape for shotputting and other track activities.

Jim Williams and Dennis Nimetz find it easy to get up in the world--10'6", at least. Perhaps the "easy part" isn't quite true, but Dennis does hold the school record for pole vaulting 10'6".

Spring sports blossom at CHS

Golf-Jim Spicer, golf captain, shows Chester Perry just the right technique for holding his club.

Baseball-Although baseball is considered a summer sport the practice starts long before summer. Tim Fizer, like other players, started practicing in mid-winter.

Members of the G. A. A. are playing an invigorating game of volleyball at a Thursday night meeting after school. These meetings were set up by the G. A. A. to provide a sports program for girls. Not only are the girls enjoying themselves, but they are also getting good, healthy exercise.

Girls take an active part in sports

These girls, too, are enjoying the fun and exercise of a lively game of volleyball.

"Return that volley!" is the cry heard and yelled by the members of the Girls' Athletic Association at the regular Thursday night meetings.

The objective of the G. A. A. is to promote good sportsmanship. During the year the club provides an hour and a half of time a week after school so the girls can achieve this objective.

Some of these after school activities include baseball, tumbling, volleyball, basketball, German bat ball, and relay races. The organization also provides outside activities, such as swimming, bowling, and horseback riding.

Members who attend each meeting receive five points a meeting. Therefore, all members work, not only for the fun and exercise, but also to see who can obtain the highest number of points; for the girl with the most points receives a trophy in her senior year.

Leading an enthusiastic crowd of football fans in the different cheers on many a cool, fall evening were varsity cheerleaders Pat Carey, Janice Book, Becky Gillespie, Sherry Carl, Estelle Keck, Mona Valencia, and Paulette Victor.

A screaming crowd and eager cheerleaders help to build the morale of any athletic team.

This year's varsity and reserve cheerleaders have been greatly improved by the adoption of several unique formations and routines and various new, lively cheers. These were obtained at the Cheerleading Conference held at Indiana University. Much prestige was added to the varsity cheerleaders this year through the tremendous acrobatic ability of "little" Sherry Carl.

New, stylish uniforms were purchased for both varsity and reserve cheerleaders in the school colors of red and white.

The yelling of the varsity cheerleaders didn't end with the end of the football season. Their enthusiasm, carried over and continued throughout the basketball season, spurred the varsity team on to many victories.

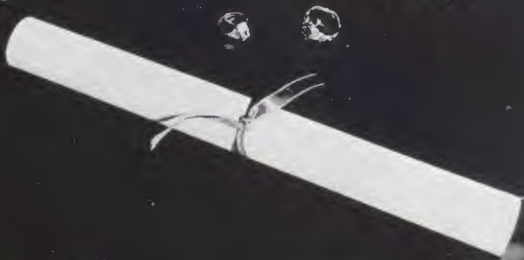

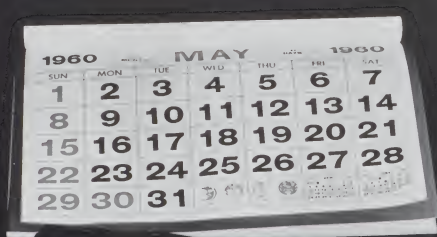

Playing, yelling, and cheering

The eagerness and spirit of reserve cheerleaders Francis Skidmore, Sue Fabian, Connie Stillabower, Frankie Wells, Sandy Chancellor, and Rhenda Rister helped to spark the reserve team to a victorious 1959-60 basketball season.

This is just one of the unique and clever routines worked out by this year's reserve cheerleaders.

We appreciate the companionship of our Friends

In these United States there is a saying, "No two people are alike." So it is at Calumet. There are 1100 individuals, ranging from faculty to freshmen. Individuals who differ in education, way of life, race, and creed. Although each personality is different, there is one "tie that binds" — they are all Americans and have the desire to have and be friends.

From such a variety of individuals, it is possible to find someone with similar interests to your own.

In the following pages these individuals are pictured in album form to insure a memory of faces that may never be seen again.

The Administration plans and

Dr. Earl Schuur, Mr. Robert Pelke, Mr. Gerald Lutz, Mr. George Rivers, Mr. Lester Alvey, and Mr. Wayne Peters are checking plans for future schools in the Calumet area.

Basic policies by which the school system is conducted and final authority on all matters affecting the public school system of Calumet Township are determined by the Metropolitan School Board.

The board acts as a committee of the whole at all times and for the good of all when decisions are finally made by adopting sound policies, requiring adequate reports, and maintaining periodic audits.

Every month the school board meets in the audio-visual aids room of the Calumet Junior High School. At this time, the board meets with Dr. Earl J. Schuur, Superintendent of Calumet Township Schools, to discuss any business issues that may have come up during the period between meetings. These meetings are open to the public.

Members of the Calumet Township Metropolitan School Board include: Mr. Lester H. Alvey, president; Mr. George Rivers, vice-president; Mr. Wayne Peters, second vice-president; Mr. Gerald Lutz, secretary; and Mr. Robert Pelke, treasurer.

progresses toward perfection

Social functions and academic work at Calumet are centered by the administrative staff.

Mr. Harold Strycker, as principal of Calumet, has the responsibility of seeing that the entire school system functions smoothly. His primary duty is the over all charge of the school and the supervision of its instructors. He is constantly striving to enlarge our school's curriculum.

Mr. Max Hile, as assistant principal, aids Mr. Strycker in various problems and is in charge of the enrollment and the proper placement of students. He is also co-ordinator of activities and scheduling classes. Mr. Hile is working towards one hundred per cent attendance in the school.

Mr. George Savin, the dean of the school, is a new member of the administrative staff this year. He is in charge of the general discipline of the student body and serves also as guidance director.

Mr. Harold Strycker, principal, never has a dull moment during the school day. There are always problems to solve, reports to make, and calls to answer.

Do you want to plan a dance, start a club, or just get your schedule changed? Then Mr. Max Hile, checking the academic curriculum, is the man to see.

"Where were you second hour yesterday?" Mr. George Savin, counsellor and guidance director, limits truancy by checking attendance sheets every day.

Office work keeps personnel busy

"Good morning, Calumet High School." When calling the school, one is greeted by the pleasant and cheerful voice of Mrs. Barbara Cudziol, private secretary to Mr. Strycker.

Members of the clerical staff at Calumet are Mrs. Corinne Redar and Mrs. Barbara Cudziol.

Mrs. Redar's position is that of bookkeeper and treasurer. As treasurer, her duties consist of handling all money coming in or going out of the school. This includes any money connected with the cafeteria and the various organizations. As bookkeeper, she pays all bills and handles the payroll and social security.

Mrs. Cudziol, in addition to being Mr. Strycker's private secretary, is in charge of incoming and outgoing mail, student withdrawals, transfers, and the enrollment of students.

By providing a more efficient method of working and training, Mrs. Cudziol has improved on the office assistants, whom she sponsors. These students now earn one credit per year for their services. These girls are working as assistants to help relieve Mrs. Redar and Mrs. Cudziol of their many responsibilities and to acquaint themselves with the business world.

Mrs. Corinne Redar keeps school records by tallying expenditures and income.

Satisfying the hungry appetites of the students at Calumet is the job of E. Randhan, M. Skinner, and D. Portlock.

Cooks and bus drivers play an important part

Teenagers are well known for their large appetites. To satisfy these large appetites of the students at Calumet, our fine staff of cooks prepare well-balanced, hot, nourishing meals.

The efficient bus drivers at Calumet make sure that the students arrive to school on time and safely.

Students of Calumet are very dependent on the school buses as a means of transportation. Barbara Warren and Sherry Warrens are getting off the bus in the morning to start their school day.

Seniors.

full of experience

As graduation draws nearer seniors' heads seem to grow, for this reason it is necessary for careful measurements to be made for caps and gowns. Coinciding with the school colors, the boys' caps and gowns are red and the girls' white, with matching tassles. Ed Hartsell and Paula Vaneck, being measured, and sixteen other students are exceptions to this rule of matching tassles. They are in the upper ten per cent and are distinguished by gold tassles.

"Who said we wouldn't make it?"

Senior class officers and the planning committee are kept busy throughout the year planning the many activities of the class.

This year the ordering of name cards and announcements was carried on by the committee members and the class received a percentage of the total cost to help build the class treasury.

Seniors also sponsored "Holiday Fantasy", a dressy dance, during the holiday season.

Other activities include the annual banquet, which was held at Jackson's Restaurant, senior "ditch day", baccalaureate services, held at the 43rd Avenue Presbyterian Church, and commencement services, held at Memorial Auditorium.

As voted by the senior class

Because Tom Mayor and Carol Oracheff are always neat in appearance and always look their best, they were chosen as the seniors for neatness.

Two two best dressed seniors are Diane Martin and Steve Divich who are always up with the latest fashions and dress well wherever they go.

Having interests in many of the school activities are Carol Mathas and Ed Kurator who were chosen as the outstanding seniors for congeniality.

they are outstanding in their fields

Two outstanding members of A Cappella are Pat Purnell and Walter Templeton who are shown above practicing for the Christmas program.

There is never a dull moment and you can always expect practical jokes when you're around Sherry Warrens and Paul Umlauf, outstanding seniors for Humor.

Always walking with heads high and body erect are Imogene Wright and Bob Paterson chosen as the seniors for poise who say "Posture is a must."

With leading characteristics

Because of their ability to be the leaders of Calumet, Delores Padol and Bob Berdine were chosen as the two outstanding seniors for leadership.

Paula Vaneck and Ed Hartsell were chosen as the two seniors for high intelligence on the basis of maintaining almost straight A's through their four years of high school.

Always doing their best in whatever they attempt to do are Shirley Kruse and Jim O'Connor who were chosen as the two outstanding seniors for the most likely to succeed.

Qualities based on four years of influence

Personality bursting out all over is the impression one gets when they meet Dennis Nimetz and Pat Christoff. And so it is. They are considered the seniors with the Most Personality.

You name it, and they can do it. John Neeley, cross-country star, and Paulette Victor, cheerleader and gym assistant were voted Most Athletic.

Being well-rounded, Gene Jongsma and Becky Gillespie readily participate in all school activities. For this reason they were chosen to be most versatile, able to fit in any crowd.

Arts developed by study and practice

"One picture is worth more than a thousand words." Art students learn to express themselves through pictures, as Jim Caldwell and Arlene Hamman have; and were chosen outstanding seniors for Art.

After hours of practice and years of musical devotion, Roland Brandt and Virginia Klebs were chosen outstanding seniors for music.

Never a harsh word or a rude action is heard or seen of Sharon Williams or Reinhold Krone, seniors chosen for outstanding courtesy.

Like, they're way out, our finest seniors.

Like, fine and way out are the adjectives used to describe Dennis Nimetz and Carol Mathas chosen "The Outstanding Seniors." All through high school Dennis and Carol have been outstanding in all characteristics.

Senior history

Entering Calumet as typical "green freshies," the Class of '60 soon became familiar with the routine of studies and extra-curricular activities. We made our presence known to the upper-classmen when Virginia Klebs and Walter Templeton reigned as Hobo Queen and King. More prestige was added to our class by the election of Diane Martin as Polio Queen.

In our second year of high school, we received the distinction of being the first class to order class rings in the spring of the sophomore year, enabling us to receive them soon after school began in the fall.

Full fledged upper-classmen at last! Our main project as juniors was the planning of the Junior-Senior Prom. Throughout the year there was an unmistakable air of excitement as class officers and the class committee handled the necessary arrangements for the prom. To add to the general excitement was the secret hope of every junior boy and girl that he or she might reign as prom royalty. At last the "magic moment" arrived on the night of April 10, 1959. "Twilight Time" was presented at the Crystal Ballroom in the Hotel Gary. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Becky Gillespie and Bud Carr as Prom Queen and King for 1959.

Another highlight of the junior year was the selection of Boy's and Girl's State representatives. Girl's State selections were Shirley Kruse and Delores Padol; alternating delegates were Joan Mika and Virginia Klebs. Boy's State selections were Jim O'Connor and Bob Berdine; alternating delegates were Gene Jongsma and Reinhold Krone.

Really on top now, we began our last year of high school as "big, bad" seniors in the fall of '59. Led by Bob Berdine for the fourth consecutive year, we set right out to make our last year even more memorable than our previous years of high school.

In the field of athletics, the football team competed for the first time in the annual Calumet Conference Football-O-Rama; Delores Padol was voted the senior candidate for Football-O-Rama Queen. The Cross Country team, sparked by seniors John Neeley, Jim O'Connor, Dennis Nimetz, and Dave Cross, captured the top place in the Gary Sectionals for the first time in the team's history. More glory was added to the Cross Country team when they took fifth place in the state, having competed against twenty-nine other schools.

Due to all-out effort on the part of the Class of '60 in organization, the 1959-60 Homecoming was the "biggest and best ever." From twelve float entries, Homemaking Club's float, portraying an "Indian Summer," was awarded with first place honors. Out of the twelve respective queen nominees, the coveted title of Homecoming Queen was bestowed upon petite Sherry Carl, Calumet Players' nominee; and Jim Spicer, chosen by his teammates, was crowned Mr. Football.

The Daughters of the American Revolution award, which is based on scholarship, dependability, service, and patriotism, and every senior girl hopes to receive, was awarded to Pat Christoff.

Chosen by their fellow classmates, Carol Mathas and Dennis Nimetz were the most outstanding seniors in the Class of '60.

Led by senior chairman, Shirley Kruse, the Class of '60 and co-operation from the entire student body and faculty helped Calumet take second place in Gary in the annual Polio Drive.

Other Calumet firsts in which the Class of '60 was instrumental were the Drama Festival and the Journalism Institute.

After four years of hard work, Paula Vaneck came out in the top scholastic position of the class as valedictorian. Ed Hartsell captured the second key position as Salutatorian.

Having completed four "happy-go-lucky" years in high school, we find ourselves on the threshold of our lives. Our friends, teachers, and parents have helped to influence which road we will take - the road to success, or failure.

On commencement evening as we walked down the aisle with our diplomas in our hands, we realized that we were no longer care-free high school students; but now we are young adults ready to face whatever challenges that might be before us in this ever-changing world.

Juniors.

full fledged upperclassmen

Being an upperclassman brings extra privileges. Everyone proudly looks forward to the day when they can wear a class ring, whether it be their's or their steady's. Shirley Shebat proudly pays her deposit for her ring, while others wait anxiously.

"Just think it's our prom!"

"Where can the prom be held?" Susan Griggs, Vice-President; brings this important question before the committee and other officers, Janice Book, President; Linda Metz, Secretary; and Sondra Marsh, Treasurer.

Ordering class rings and planning the prom are the two major activities of the junior class.

A planning committee was elected by class members to carry on the business and various projects of the class under the direction of the class officers.

The style having been chosen by the planning committee, juniors received their class rings in November.

Hard work and co-operation made the Junior-Senior Prom, which was held at the Crystal Ballroom, Hotel Gary, a huge success.

Ideas for the prom are approved whole-heartily by the attentive planning committee: Janet Tovsen, Mike Reigle, Ron Howard, Gordon Ligocki, Karen Haussman, and Jackie Nagy.

full of school spirit

Killing two birds with one stone The sophomore class increased school spirit and pep by selling pom pons. At the same time they increased their treasury. Eileen Hollenbaugh sells Mary Feeney three pom pons, each of different design.

"Let's raise some money!"

The different activities of the sophomore class are planned and carried out under the direction of the class officers and planning committee.

The class sold pom pons and sponsored a sock hop as their money-making projects for the year.

Plans for ordering class rings have been underway so that the class may receive their rings early in the fall, soon after school begins.

"How much money do we need to raise?" This is a big mystery to the sophomore class; and trying to solve it are Carol Prasnikar, vice-president; Sue Fabian, treasurer; Marsha Wroblewski, president; and Laura Ludwig, secretary.

Assisting the class officers are Charlene Phillips, Jackie Sanders, Lavonne Ligoeki, Eileen Hollenbough, Carolyn Crowe, Renda Rister, Carol Wyrick, and Mary Feeney.

Freshmen.

full of enthusiasm

Freshies need to be informed. Mr. Strycker, principal, instructs the entire freshman class concerning conduct and other general rules on the first day of school. Then they were on their own in a different way of life.

"We'd better get organized"

Entering high school this year, the freshman students gradually became accustomed to the new world of high school life. Basketball games, dances, other athletic games, and studies soon became familiar everyday activities with the "green freshies."

A freshman planning committee was elected to aid the class officers in conducting the business of the class.

As their only money-making project, the freshmen sponsored a sock hop to promote funds for the class treasury.

Organizing freshman activities for the year are Carol Boger, treasurer; Sandy Christoff, president; Betty Mead, secretary; and Cheryl Harms, vice-president.

These students have the distinction of being the members of the first freshman planning committee: Sherra Wilt, Randy Sanders, Joe Strickland, Peggy Kennedy, Judy Blyth, Rosetta Fankhouser, Sandy Anderson. standing, Jack Weitze.

"Young America," Pat Christoff, D.A.R. award winner, walks in the free breezes of a free America.

Students are honored for Citizenship

Remembering the good times at Boys' State and Girls' State are Shirley Kruse, Bob Berdine, Delores Padol and Jim O'Connor. They were representatives at Indiana University this summer for Calumet.

"Not only top scholastically, but tops in everything," Paula Vaneck, valedictorian, and Ed Hartsell, salutatorian, are two of Calumet's leading students, scholastically and socially.

And high scholastic abilities.

We like to select goods through our

Advertisements

In these United States there are merchants and craftsmen to fill every need. These businessmen seek, not only a personal gain, but to please the public. Products and services are displayed through advertisements.

Advertising has been proven to be an important asset to the American public, enabling people to find products of the best quality at the most convenient prices from a wide selection.

In the following pages are the merchants who co-operatively support the school, as the students support them.

"Your Favorite Milk"

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries...steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians...some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel...with the midwest's own steel company...INLAND STEEL.
